

Most often, though not necessarily, assistance in finding a suitable property (or a buyer for the property) is provided by real estate agencies.

Besides mediation, the agencies undertake to assist in the subsequent stages until the final closing of the deal. Commissions for the services rendered on the transaction should be paid to the respective agency. The amount of the commission is negotiated between the agency and the client and usually it is a percentage of the amount of the transaction.